DEFINITIONS / MEANINGS of WORDS / PHRASES in the text

Virtually all the information and quotations quoted below come from a copy of 'A New Law Dictionary', by Giles Jacob (London, 1772). This Publication is almost contemporary with the date that Palmer carried out his Translation. Other information, taken from the Chambers Twentieth Century Dictionary - CCD

Enfeoff (enfeoffment):

To give a fief to; to invest with possession in fee; to give up as a fief; to surrender. (from the Old French – feoffer) (in the case of this Deed, the surrendering back of the land and properties, that had ben escheated{confiscated} by the Crown) enfeoffment: act of enfeoffing; the deed which invests with the fee of an estate.

feoff: to grant possession of a fief or property in land. (CCD)

Feoffee:

Is a modern derivation of the above words. (the Feoffees became the persons to whom the land/property was 'enfeoffed') (jfa)

Free Socage (Viz. by Fealty only not in Capite):

'Is a tenure of lands by or for certain inferior services of husbandry to be performed to the lord of the fee'. There were two types of socage - free or common socage and base socage. Fealty 'signifies an oath taken at the admittance of every tenant, to be true to the lord of whom he holds his land'. Capite was 'an ancient tenure whereby a man held lands of the King immediately as of the crown, whether by Knight's service, or in socage'. Clearly the latter applied in Colyton.

Fee Simple:

'Is where a man hath lands or tenements, to hold to him and his heirs for ever' [i.e. freehold].

Fee Tail:

'Is an estate whereof one is seized with limitation to him and the heirs of his body'.

Message:

A dwelling with the adjoining lands appropriated to the household. (CCD)

Tenement:

A holding by any tenure. A dwelling, or part of it, used by one family. (CCD)

Appurtenances:

A right belonging to a property. (CCD)

Hereditament:

Any property that may pass to and Heir. (CCD)

Curtilage:

A court (or enclosed area) attached to a dwelling house. (CCD)

Alienation:

'A transferring of the property or a thing to another' [basically the selling of an area of land or property by one person to another].

Seld:

We can find no definition for this, but Jacob does refer to 'Selda', which may be the same thing, although we are not sure of the context. According to Jacob, it refers to 'a shop, shed, or stall in a market'. (BC)

Barton Land:

'Barton' 'is a word used in Devonshire for the demesne lands of a manor; sometimes the manor house itself; and in some places for out-houses and fold-yards'. (BC)

A Yard (of land):

We are unclear as to whether a yard in this context would have been three feet of land or what is sometimes referred to as a 'yardland'. According to Jacob, a yardland was differently measured in different parts of England, ranging from fifteen acres in Surrey to 20, 24, 30 or 40 acres in other. In our context, it is almost certainly the latter definition but we are not sure of the acreage for this part of Devon. (BC)

Close:

A word in common usage, but here probably meaning an enclosed place, a small enclosed field. (CCD)

Reversion:

While there is a definition in Jacob, it is difficult to interpret and summarize. However, the usual meaning of a reversion, in a deed, is 'an area of land that remains vested in - and in the possession of - the 'grantor' after the rest of the land has been passed, granted or sold to another party'. (BC)

Moiety:

A half-share of an area of land.

A Reve:

'The bailiff of a franchise or manor, especially in the western part of England'. We are not sure precisely what franchise means in this context, but it seems fair to assume that anyone referred to as a Reve in the charter was a manorial bailiff.

Londebote:

This word does not appear in Jacob so we have difficulty finding a meaning. 'Bote', however, is described in Jacob as a particular type of 'amends or recompense', so it may have been a customary word for some sort of recompense.

Common of Estovers and Turbery:

Estovers signify 'to supply with necessities; and is generally used in the law for allowances of wood made to tenants'. Turbery (not Turbery) 'is a right to dig turfs on a common or in another man's ground'. In this case someone was presumably being granted the right to take wood and turfs from an area of common land. (BC)

Luentity:

As in 'Londebote', above, we are not able to find any meaning for this word. This one is a complete mystery to us and we wonder whether it has been mis-transcribed, by Palmer. (BC)

Amerciaments:

'signifies the pecuniary punishment of an offender against the King or other lord in his court'.

Corodies:

Corody 'signifies a sum of money or allowance of meat, drink and cloathing due to the King from an abbey, or other house of religion'.

Inrollment:

Is the 'registering or entering in the rolls of the Chancery, King's Bench, Common Pleas or Exchequer, or by the clerk of the peace in the records of the quarter-sessions, of any lawful act'.

Lastage:

'A custom exacted in some fairs and markets, to carry things bought where one will'. We are not entirely sure what that means!

Stallage:

'The liberty or right of pitching or erecting of stalls in fairs or markets'.

Pontage:

'Is a contribution towards the maintenance, or re-edifying bridges'.

Passage:

In this context probably a custom or duty relating to transport by water.

Chiminage:

'Is the toll due by custom for having a way through a forest'.

Murage:

'Is a reasonable toll, to be taken of every cart and horse coming laden thro' a city or town, for the building or repairing the publick walls thereof, due either by grant or prescription'.

Pannage:

'Is that food which the swine feed upon in the woods...Also it is the money taken by the Agistors [officers appointed by the King to take in and feed the cattle of strangers in the King's forest] for the food of hogs in the King's forest'.

Kaiage:

'The toll money paid for loading or unloading goods at a key or wharf.

Picage:

'A consideration, paid far the breaking up of ground to set up booths, stalls or standings, in fairs; payable to the Lord of the soil'.

Tythingman:

A tithing was 'a company (originally) of ten householders in the system of frankpledge' (A New English Dictionary of Historical Principles, by Sir James Murray (Oxford, 1926)), and a tithingman was 'anciently, the chief man of a tithing'. (BC)

The Lord of the Manor's Pounds / Poundes:

We are not sure what this refers to and in what way the Lord's Pounds differed from anybody else's, if indeed they did. It was common to have a village or town 'Pound' – usually to hold stray animals, until they were claimed or animals could be 'impounded' in local dispute or similar. (BC)

Court of Pie Powder:

'Is a court held in fairs, to administer justice to buyers and sellers, and for redress of disorders committed in them'.

Fulling Mill:

A mill building within which woollens were beaten as a means of scouring, thickening and finishing. Usually driven by water, mechanisms pounded the material with forms of hammers.
jfa

Racke/Rack:

A system of Frames with hooks on which the 'fulled' (from the fulling mill) materials/cloths were stretched or 'tentered'. (our modern expression 'on tenter-hooks' meaning 'in impatient suspense' is derived from this) jfa

Acre:

An area of land equal to about 0.4 hectare.

Rood:

The fourth part of an Acre, equal to forty Poles.

'Three score & ten':

A score was equal to twenty; therefore this makes 70!

Reference to amounts of money, in the texts:

A 'shilling' was one twentieth of one pound (Sterling); a 'penny' was one twelfth of a shilling; a 'halfpenny' was just that! and a 'farthing' was one quarter of a penny. (In the Palmer text he used the expression 'Pound' as the amount of money but, at the time of the original Deed, the pound was probably the same as a 'Mark'.

NOTE: A word 'Wara' appears in Grant 36 and Palmer put a note in the margin which suggested that he considered that this referred to a measure or quantity of land. However, in Grant 48, the same word seems to be the name of a place or part of the Parish, but we are unable to verify either. jfa

*I am indebted to Brian Carpenter (BC above), Archivist, in the Devon Record Office, Castle Street, Exeter Devon, EX43PU, UK (Web Page: <http://www.devon.gov.uk/dro/homepage.html>) for his assistance with these definitions. Jfa.*

NOTE 1. Where a Surname appears but is not indicated as being identified within a Grant Number, that person is only mentioned in the initial schedule of names, at the commencement of the Letters Patent.

NOTE 2. The inclusion of an entry in the 'Status' column only records an actual quote from a Grant detail. There are numerous instances where there may be a strong presumption of a relationship, but these have not been included in this column.
